

KH3 Hash Trash 20th Feb 2017

Stockleigh Pomeroy

Hare : Tinsel

Cook : Bauble

Nice to see Tinsel and Bauble again, back on a brief sojourn in the old country. Bauble out of action running-wise following knee surgery, but thankfully his barbie skills were intact so we set off, leaving him stripped to the waist and flipping lasagnes over the red-hot coals (and no doubt downing a few tinnies to quench the raging thirst thus generated).

Off through the sleepy hamlet, and up the muddy track, to the FIRST fish-hook, then up a bit further to the SECOND !!

Through the woods and skirting the cabbage field through Somme-quality shig, and down to the THIRD fish-hook !!! Down the track through more woods, where Nickerang, blinded by Dents searchlight, impaled himself on a branch.

FOURTH fish-hook !!!!

Down across a field, and into a damp one with many lovely snowdrops, eventually back-to-checking.

Much casting about for the trail in the vicinity of Great Gutton (that's a place, not a hasher) ... FIFTH fish-hook !!!!!

Quality sweets at the SS ... one-eye-shutworthy sour snakes and Marks & Sparks Gums and Berties - Tinsel you spoil us !!

Onwards to Shobrooke, where some naughty hasher was spotted converting SIXTH fish-hook !!!!! into a check - hanging's too good for such as they !

The trail then went very sparse for a looooooong way, forcing the aforementioned allegedly-naughty hasher, who luckily knew where he was (and was concerned for the welfare of the numerous much older hashers), to press on, regardless of personal safety and oddly evanescent fish-hooks, over hill and dale, through furrow and forest, till the blessed OH-> hove into view, doubtless raising the spirits of said ancient hash-persons trailing in his wake.

Back along the out-trail for the last half-mile or so, brushing aside the THIRTEENTH
!!!!!!!!!!!!!! fish-hook, and back to the much-admired village hall, where Bauble, now attired in DJ and Bermuda Shorts, revived us all with ale and lasagne.

Talking of lasagne ... BoomO was presented with his long-service award - a very well-hung solid gold Lasagne (no salad or chips though).

A fun, if tiring, night ... Good on Ya, Tinsel & Bauble !!

(Naughty) Nippy

ps. did I mention the fish-hooks ??
